

Case study success story

Local Authority District Council

The requirement

- From a review of printing processes a local government district council concluded greater business efficiency could be gained from reducing departmental business printing and making greater use of the central print room. Requirements included a job submission system which would integrate with the existing Equitrac print accounting system and one which would enable users to select additional documents as enclosures to the make up document packs.

The solution

- docQmanager with job ticketing was selected for the job submission system because of its ease of use, its ready integration with Equitrac and, being an open system, its ability to work with any current or future Windows supported print room devices. For the document pack requirement the docQcollate job collation module for job ticketing met the needs.

Benefits

- Business efficiencies and cost savings throughout the council.
